The Dorinda

December
A.S. XXVIII

This is the December 1993 issue of The Dorinda, published by and for the members of the Shire of Caer Galen (Boulder, Colorado), Society for Creative Anachronism Inc. It is not a corporate publication of the Society for Creative Anachronism Inc (SCA) and does not delineate SCA policies. The Dorinda may return any submission that mentions or implies anything illegal or any item not in the spirit of the Current Middle Ages (e.g., items not concerning the SCA and/or not of interest to SCA members). Subscriptions are available from the Chronicler or the Reeve for $7.00/12 issues; make checks payable to SCA-Caer Galen. The Reeve also maintains the mailing labels and list of addresses/phone numbers of the shire; contact the Reeve to get a copy of this list or to update your address.

Submissions for The Dorinda are due NO LATER THAN the third Wednesday of the month (so you can bring it to Fighting Practice, gang!) For the eternal gratitude of the chronicler, type copy in black ink on white paper, in 4 and 1/2 inch columns. If you could care less about gratitude, any legible form will do, including e-mail. Please inform the chronicler of any corrections as soon as possible.

Inside Art by Marisela

From the Chronicler

Salutations to you all and glad cheer! I would like to draw your attention to the Ottering About column, which has sort of become more of a soap box than a review column. If you have anything you need to preach about, write in!

I recently went to a "Guild Day" that was held up in Unser Haven at the house of the good Lady Rosalind and Lord Thorfinn. What a great time was had there! People spent the day pursuing whatever project they had in hand; much armor was built and many people learned to bake bread, among other things. The exchange of knowledge made my forgotten sense of wonder at the SCA stir once again and re-ignite. Anyone interested in/have an idea for something like that?

Since I have received no corrections to the Domesday Book, I will assume it is all correct (HA! I know some of you have moved!!!) . So if you have corrections, drop me a line, email, or just call and leave a message. You don't even have to talk to me. You will, however, get to listen to Otto's Perky Christmas Greeting on our answering machine.

Attention All Cooks

If you have a favorite dish or a particular specialty that you would like to see served more often at feasts, please consider teaching a class at the upcoming Arts and Sciences Collegium in March 1994 in the Shire of Windkeep. We have lots of kitchen space available for hands-on work or classrooms available for lectures. Please call or write to Lady Siobhan McShiny (Jennifer Smith) at 817 W. 19th St., Cheyenne, WY 82007, (307) 632-8106.

Ottering About

Something I forgot last month about PENNSIC: (or any war for that matter) Bring your own water, drink out of your own containers. 'Nuff said.

AT WAR OF THE ROSES:

This year WOTR was notable for many things, but outstanding was the absence of the man who IS the War of the Roses embodied (don't examine that literary device too closely, please, just glance and move on), Master Giovanni. Although he was there in blame, he was bodily called to duty at the Coronation of Their Atlantian Majesties in Caer Maer (Virginia).

Fighting: I am not a rapier fighter, but WOTR is one event that makes me wish I were..Along with the regular sort of tourney thing, the fencers were engaged all weekend in a series of street ~~brawls~~ engagements all throughout the site. It looked like a lot of fun, with plenty of cursing of foes and other fencing sort of merriment. One of the best things about rapier combat is that it allows for a lot of theatre play, which can be only muffly at best in heavy armour. Imagined combat between a fencer and an armoured fighter:

Fencer: "En garde, you scurvy dog not worth the fingernail clippings of the whore who has borne you...."
HWFighter: "MMMDFFF NNDFFFLLL MMRRRLLFFLL!"
Fencer: "What?"
HWFighter: "MDFLL FLURRRRFFF!"
Fencer: (moving closer in an attempt to hear better) "Beg your pardon?"
HWFighter's Sword: "THWACK!!!!!"
Fencer: "URK!" (falls over)

Anyway, you get the idea. The armoured fighting at WOTR could best be described as grueling. Resurrection battle after resurrection battle slogged on, punctuated by tourneys, and the end of the weekend saw some _really_ tired puppies dragging home.

I can't pass up this chance to take a poke at type of tourney I would like to see changed: the way-cool prize tourney (Definition: any tourney that has a highly-publicized, really spiff prize for the winner). This was a better way-cool prize tourney than usual in that it was a round robin instead of double-elimination, yet there were still quite a few grumblings made during and after the Tourney for the Helm; I won't name names, but overheard were the following remarks: "I would have fallen down sooner, but I really need that helm." "I don't even know why I bother with tourneys like this; the nice prizes really only go to the knights." "(Fighter name) must really want that helm; (s/he)'s not taking anything today."

All three of these statements are heavy with the fruit of the Sour Grape vine. The implication of the first statement is that the person was fighting with visions of sugarplum helms dancing in his head, and may have missed a few blows, either intentionally or inadvertently. The second implies that this sort of tourney benefits only the veteran fighters. In fact, two out of the four semi-finalists were knights, but the other two were _not_. The third statement is perhaps the worst because it indicates a judgement of another fighter based on what may or may not be the truth, but would certainly not have been an issue had it been a chivalry tourney (can you imagine? "So-and-so must really want to win Most Chivalrous, he's really taking everything today." !!)

The worst example of a way-cool prize tourney I have seen was a Cash Prize tourney held at Pennsic several years ago. Each fighter paid an entry fee, which went into the prize money kitty. A double elimination tourney followed with some fighting that would have made large, horned, African quadrupeds weep.

Now, don't get me wrong. I am not against giving out prizes or even way-cool prizes. I think one of the difficulties lies merely in the prize being highly-publicized. I think it is better when a prize comes as a surprise to the recipient, especially if it is good one. (I also think the Most Chivalrous fighter deserves spiffy prizes, too.)

The problem with way-cool prize tourneys is that the sort of competitiveness sometimes inspired by them is not compatible with the form of fighting done in the SCA. I mean, when people are at an auction for something they want really badly, they can go to a lot of lengths to get what they want. I don't like watching fights that have turned into bidding wars where one fighter tries to outlast the other. We need scenarios that bring out the nobler side of our fighters.

Fortunately, there are many medieval tournament forms that lend themselves to SCA use. Next month, I will write about current tournament societies that put on _excellent_ tournaments based on chivalry and Looking Good.

ATTILA THE HUN TOURS EUROPE!

In the mid-5th century, CE, a neighborhood thug named Attila got bored with his home turf in Pannonia and embarked on a scenic tour of late Roman Europe. He spent a fine Spring in northeastern France, returning home for the Winter. His jaunt the following Summer took him through northern Italy to Rome.

The Shire of Caer Galen will present an evening feast commemorating the culinary aspects of these tours on Saturday, December 11, 1993, at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Boulder, 5001 Pennsylvania Street, Boulder.

Lady Marged Tylluan Fach and Lord Galen MacMorn (303-546-6223) will once again cook a fine feast with Milord Pietro d'Arezzo directing presentation.

MENU

University of Caerthe

December 4

Because of the mundane holiday known as Thanksgiving, we will not meet in November. Our next University will be held on the afternoon of the first Saturday in December. Mistress Kyriel will talk to us about "How to Write Period Poetry without Committing Plagiarism." If you have written any poetry in Period style, please bring it. If you subscribe to Creative Anachronist, bring issue #67, Ars Poetica Societatis, along.

We will meet December 4, 2 p.m., at Windhover Cliff, the home of Mistress Kyriel. All are encouraged to attend. Period garb is optional, but appreciated. for further information, call Lady Amelia von Altburg, 750-0180, or Master Robin Vinehall, 444-5004. If you are unable to find a map, call Mistress Kyriel, 530-1037, for directions. We will end early enough that people can get home before dark. Carpooling is encouraged.

ST. BRIGID'S DAY IN CAER GALEN
"MAKE LOVE AND WAR"
February 12, 1994

Join us for a weekend of revelry in true Caer Galen Style! St. Brigid's Day offers something for everyone!

The festivities will begin at 12:00 noon with a LOVE REVEL. Be prepared for games to challenge the wit and contests to stimulate the soul (and possibly other body parts). Dancing, bardic arts,board games, and perhaps a round or two of that perennial favourite, Caer Galen Musical Chairs, will be the order of the day. Competitions will include Best Performance of a Romantic Song, Wittiest Compliment, and Most Flowery Seduction Speech. Prepare your tongues to be at their most glib - appropriate prizes will be awarded! At last report Their Majesties were planning to attend - if they so will, there will be Court sometime during the afternoon.

At 5:00 pm a delectable FEAST will be served. This incredible bounty will be prepared by the redoubtable Lady Brigit O'Breslin (no relation to the Saint herself). The menu, which features dishes served at the Coronation of King Henry IV of England, follows herewith:

First Remove Smoked Oysters

Cold Course Artichokes and Mushrooms a la Alexandre
Figs, Dates stuffed with Marzipan, Pomegranates, and Apples
Lobster and Rice
Smoked Eggs
Breads and Butters

Second Remove Lombardy Quiche
Gilded Chicken and Meatballs
Slit Sops (a vegetable soup)

Third Remove Honey Saffron Quiche
Roast Meat with Crisps
Buttered Greens with Toast

After the feast, the event will move to the Guild Theatre, where the curtain will rise at 8:00 pm for The Upstart Crow Theatre Company's performance of HENRY IV, PART I, by Mr. Wm Shakespeare. We have bought out the House for this performance. At the Intermission hot spiced cider and desserts will be served. As part of this, there will be a competition - and since we never do anything here with subtlety, it shall be a BLATANCY COMPETITION. Prepare your most blatant subtlety and submit it to the discerning judges (that is, all persons present). Rules for the competition: 1. There is no Rule One. 2. The Saint's Whim is that Chocolate is Period.

On Sunday, February 13, there will be a WAR PRACTICE. This is the last weekend before Estrella, and therefore the last opportunity to hone your fighting skills. The site is currently under negotiation, and will be announced, with map, in the February OH. His Majesty strongly encourages fighters to attend.

REVEL/FEAST SITE: First Congregational Church, 1128 Pine Street, Boulder COTHEATRE SITE: The Guild Theatre, 4840 Sterling Drive, Boulder CO

Maps to all sites will be published in the February Outlandish Herald.

FEES: Site: $5.00 Choose play only,feast and revel only, revel only, or all three!
Play: $5.00
Feast: $5.00

Feast and theatre performance are limited to 60 persons each, so make your reservations early. CUTOFF FOR RESERVATIONS IS SATURDAY,
JANUARY 29 - please contact the autocrat for availability after that date. Make checks payable to SCA-CAER GALEN and include your SCA name and home group on your check.. Send reservations to the Revel Superintendent.
